Family Constellations explores the unknown dynamics within families that are behind the traumas and misfortunes we experience in our lives. An innocent child wants only to love its family and the child often sacrifices its own best interests in the blind belief that this suffering will ensure its 'belonging' to the family. This experiential workshop brings these hidden loyalties to light so that love can begin flowing in a healthy way.

The client chooses members from the group to physically represent some of their family members. These representatives then experience the effects of the family dynamics, often going back generations. The facilitator works with the representatives to restore balance, respect, dignity, and love between all the members of the family. Everyone attending the workshop is able to feel the effect of these entanglements and the freedom that results from their resolution.
